TGRI DOMINATES ISSOM SERIES 1 WITH GT RADIAL TIRES, SEIZING THE CHAMPIONSHIP

Haridarma Manoppo, a skilled racer and mentor, recently demonstrated his expertise and the reliability of his GT Radial tires in a Sunday race on May 3rd, 2023. Despite starting the race in second place, Haridarma made an impressive start and quickly surged ahead, leaving his rivals behind. When asked about the secret to his success, Haridarma attributed it to his strong start, which gave him the necessary momentum to maintain his lead.

In addition to his own racing skills, Haridarma also praised the performance of his GT Radial Champiro SX2 tires, which he credits as a critical component in his victory. According to Haridarma, these locally produced tires in Indonesia are highly reliable and can hold their own against other tire products in extreme racing conditions. The durability and consistency of the GT Radial tires were put to the test throughout the 12 rounds of racing on the challenging Sentul International Circuit track in Bogor, West Java, but ultimately proved to be the ammunition needed for Haridarma to maintain a consistent best time record and secure the win.

This victory highlights the importance of reliable and high-quality tires in racing, and serves as a testament to the performance of GT Radial tires in extreme conditions. As Haridarma Manoppo continues to demonstrate his racing prowess, it is clear that the right tires can make all the difference in achieving victory on the track.
